There seen no disavowal by him of the of his vendor, and the claim of ad-possession cannot be maintained, next and main ground uson which appellant relies is that the trustees the next and main ground upon which appellant relies is that the trustees re not bona fide purchasers for value vitsout notice. They are unquestionably archasers for value, but were they bona fide without notice? They were not. The preliant, Bernard T. Chapman, claims often a purchase from his father. Thomas v.: he paid all the purchase-money and cole possession. Long after the father poveyed the same land and others to lay & Chapman (T. A.) in trust to search his creditors. The appellant was in gen, pesceable, and exclusive possessions the time his land was conveyed to the fustee. Of this equitable title the trustees of this equitable title the trustees were bound to take notice. If they are made due enquiry, which his possession made it their duty to do, they would nave learned the facts upon which his icht of possession was based, and knowing thereof is by the law imputed to hem. Moreover, one of the trustees had citial notice. The appellant is entitled to decree against them.

The trustees urged that the appellant and abandoned his possession because was absent from the premises for bout six years. But absence is not abandoned, and his was for good cause, and he will exercised ownership by rent-

FUNDS PREMATURELY MOVED. Judge Buchanan delivered the opinion in Clendening vs. Conrad. The four infant hildren of B. F. Conrad became entitled children of B. F. years, when the creditors had a right to the fund.

The court entered an order in the suit in which the removal of the $2,000 had been allowed and appointed a receiver, who should take such steps here or in West Virginia as might be necessary to secure the corpus of the fund, in 1857 this receiver filed his petition, in which, among other things, he stated that the guardian Conrad was in Virginia, and asked that he be compelled to appear and bring the fund into court that it might be invested and secured.

The guardian demurred and answered. The supreme Court hoids that the court below erred in dismissing the petition; that it was proper for the guardian to be proceeded against in this State; that he had prematurely removed the funds before the end of the term of the court which had made the Clendening order during the same term.

which had made the Clendening order, during the same term.

But the demurrer should have been sustained because the children were not made parties to the petition of the receiver; and leave to amend it ought to have been granted. The court erred in passing upon the rights of the children in the fund when they were not before the court. the court.

CONSTRUCTION OF A WILL.

CONSTRUCTION OF A WILL.

Judge Harrison delivered the opinion in Farrisch trustee, et al. vs. Wayman, trustee, et al. This case construes the will of Joseph B. Redd. He gave one share of his real estate to trustees to be held by them in trust, and for the benefit of his niece, Agnes Priscilia Redd, "during her natural life, and should she die and leave no child the property devised above, or what may remain of the same,
I give to my sister."

and leave no child the property devised above, or what may remain of the same, I give to my sister."

The above language gives the said Agnes a fee simple. But there is another point in the case. The said Agnes became the Widow Farish, with a number of children. In 1870 she had a settlement with her acting trustee, Coibert, who conveyed to her a tract of land in full satisfaction of her interest under the will of her uncle, estimated at $1,500. Still, after Coibert's death she and her children, all grown, file a petition in a said to settle up Coibert's estate, and into sist that Coibert's estate, and into sist that Coibert's estate, and into sist that Coibert's estate shall be charged with $1,500, and credited with the true value of the land. There is no charge of fraud in the petition. This court holds that if she had any rights which had been violated, her laches precluded her from the assertion of them. She was not heard to utter a word of complaint for twenty years. She was sul juris and capable of contracting with Coibert; and, even if it could be shown that the land was not worth as much as she took if for, she could not be permitted to repudlinte her contract, so long acquienced in.

From the arch, in place of the customary bell, was suspended a reproduction of a Confederate battle-flag in flowers, which was presented to Miss Hill by a Confederate veteran camp. The front parlor was de corated with apple-blossoms and evergreens. An aisle was arranged with white ribbons, which were held by the four young lady attendants-Miss Margaret dressed in white Swiss over white silk, and carrying bouquets of La France roses, and Miss Julia Miller Blake, as ring-bearer, carrying the wedding-ring in a basket of forget-me-knots. The groom accompanied by Mr. Tebault, his best man, entered by the side, and met the bride at the altar, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. E. W. Winfrey. The reception, which was held last night at the home of the bride, was quite a brilliant affair, and attended by many friends from Culpeper and from a distance. Among the ladies present were Mrs. and Miss Eriggs and Miss Evans, of Norfolk, Mrs. Cline, Miss Peter, Miss Margaret Blaine, and Miss Smillie, of of Norloik; Mrs. Chine, Miss Feet, Miss Margaret Blaine, and Miss Smille, of Washington; Mrs. Brock, Miss Moncure, Miss Burress, and Miss Crutchifeid, of Richmond; Miss Blanche Scott, of Frede-ricksburg; Mrs. A. B. Webb, of Wash-ington; Mrs. Elake, Miss Armstrong, Miss Latham, Miss Flint, and many others

NIECE OF GENERAL HILL The groom, who is now a successful and popular young business-man of Nor-folk, is a son of Dr. Briggs, who in his day was a well-known Richmond physi-

The bride, who for several years past has been the reigning bells of Culpeper, is a nisce of Lieutenant-General A. P. Hill, and granddaughter of Colonei Henry Hill, and granddaughter of Colonel Henry Hill, who was major and paymaster in the United States army up to 1881, when he entered the Confederate service, in which he held a similar position. Her father, the late Henry Hill, Jr., was a gallant soldier in Company D (Captain William A. Hill), Fourth Virginia Cavalry. He entered the army at the age of 17. It was Henry Hill, Jr., who brought the corpse of General A. P. Hill from Petersburg, April 2, 1865, coffined it at midnight, recrossed Mayo's bridge afterwards, and buried the body in Chesterfield county. Miss Hill has represented Virginia on several occasions at the encampment of Confederate Veterans. She and her twin sister were decorated by Hustings Court of this city to twelve months in jail for assaulting Charles H.

Page with the purpose of extorting money from him. Executive clemency was recommended by Judge Witt, the Commonwealth's Attorney, and Mr. Page. The pardon is conditioned on Brown's future good behavior.

A conditional pardon was also granted Claiborne Rutherford, of Wise county, who was sentenced to the peniteritary for horse-stealing. Rutherford is very young. While out hunting and when only a mile and a half from home became tired and a half from home.

The best man was Mr. Edmund Lorraine Ruffin, of Richmond, and the ushers were Messrs. Charies Vernon Ford, of raine Ruffin, or Richmond, and the ushers were Messrs. Charies Vernon Ford, of Pairfax Courthouse, Va.; Robert Harri-son and Thomas Ruffin, of Richmond, and Talbot Denmead, of Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Ruffin have taken a south-ern tour, and will reside in Richmond. OTHER WEDDINGS.

On Wednesday evening a very pleasant home wedding took place at No. 701 west Marshall street. Miss Annie Stewart be-came the bride of Mr. W. C. Land. The couple, preceded by Messrs. M. N. Lewis and W. S. Bradley, entered the spacious and W. S. Bradley, entered the spacious parlor, and were made one by the Rev. Dr. Young, of Park-Place Methodist church. The bride, who is a pretty and attractive blonde, was becomingly attired in a gray traveiling suit, and carried a superb bouquet of white roges. The groom resides in Bellifield, and is a popular attache of the Atlantic and Danville railroad.

Mr. David Connell and Miss Pauline W Poehler were married at the parsonage of St. Patrick's church at 8:39 o'clock Wednesday night. Rev. Father Donohue officiated, and Messrs. Eichard Stephenson officiated, and Messrs. Richard Stephenson and Joseph Baccigniupo acted as ushers. At the close of the ceremonies the bridal couple and their friends repaired to Sanger Hall, where a reception was held. At the residence of Mr. E. H. Loyali, 318 east Cary street, Tuesday evening, Mr. Philip L. L. Dickinson and Miss Netia May Clarke were married. A large number of friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. P. T. Warren, of Williamsburg, the former home of the groom. After the wedding quite a pleasant reception was given the bridal party at the residence of the groom's mother, No. 209 north Nineteenth street.

FOURTH NIGHT WITH THE ELKS. A Large Crowd and a Fine Entertainment Last Evening. Another large gathering graced the festival at the Theatre last night. splendid success that has marked each successive night since the opening of the Elk's Bazaar promises to continue with out abatement.

Elk's Bazaar promises to continue without abatement.

An excellent entertainment was supplied by the Orlole Mandolin and Glee Clubs, and dancing was indulged in after 10 o'clock by a very large number of the visitors. Professor Moses Stein's orchestra furnishing enlivening strains. The voting contests continue to grow in interest. The race for the magnificent Elks' badge to be awarded the most popular member of Richmond Lodge, is led by Mr. Charles Loeffler. Mrs. Chris. Evensen's name heads the contest for the badge to be voted to the most popular married lady; the boy's bleyele vote is led by Master John Pope Angle; the leading contestant for the lady's bicycle is Miss Wise, and the gold-locket competition among the baby Elks is thus far in favor of Master Louis H. Slegel.

A meeting of the Bazaar Committee has been called for 7:29 o'clock this evening at the Theatre.

'Cycle Club at Yellow Tavern.

An effort is now being made to start a bicycle club at Yellow Tavern. This idea originated with several members of the Richmond 'Cycle Club, and the plan is to organize, with about twenty members, and to furnish the institution with a cafe, baths, bowling-alley, and other conveniences. Yellow Tavern is a sort of rendezvous and resting-place of Richmond wheelmen, and this club will make mond wheelmen, and this club will make the spot even more popular than it has been in the past.

A B. Y. P. U. Social. There was a social conference of the Baptist Young People's Union of Rich-mond and Manchester, held at Grace-Street church last night. Rev. Dr. Hatcher made an address, and then there Hatcher made an address, and then the was a short service of song and prayer.
